

Legal Counsel - Power, Vancouver

5-7 Years

SNC • LAVALIN

SNC-Lavalin is an international leader in engineering and construction, and a major player in the ownership of infrastructure, and in the provision of operations and maintenance services. Our success is founded on our experience and proven technical skills, our global versatility, and on the way we carefully listen to our clients and the communities we serve.

Currently, there is an opportunity to join the Power Group of SNC-Lavalin as Legal Counsel, working out of the downtown Vancouver office. The role of Legal Counsel is to advise the Power Business Unit on proposals and contracts with clients, joint venture partners, subcontractors for power projects, as well as participate in legal teams for acquisition and concession transactions.

Details of the responsibilities you will assume as Legal Counsel are as follows:

- Prepare and revise various agreements including engineering services contracts, engineering, procurement and construction contracts, construction contracts and joint venture contracts
- Provide sound legal advice and contribute to the analysis of commercial issues
- Participate in the negotiation process between SNC-Lavalin and its clients and partners on a local and international basis
- Participate in areas related to project financing
- Interpret laws, decrees and any other documents of a legal nature ensuring the interests of the company are adequately protected
- Work closely with internal clients, engineers and management in order to maximize negotiations and minimize corporate risk

The ideal candidate will have between 5 and 7 years of experience in corporate commercial law including experience in power projects, public private partnerships and/or construction law. You must thrive in a work intensive environment, work well independently as well as part of a multi-disciplinary team, and have the confidence and communication skills required to effectively advise senior professionals. SNC-Lavalin offers highly sophisticated legal work, mentorship and career advancement opportunities. If you are seeking to take your practice to the next level, consider SNC-Lavalin.

Please forward your CV to Stephanie Hacksel of ZSA Legal Recruitment at shacksel@zsa.ca quoting job #BT-19208. All CVs sent directly to SNC Lavalin will be redirected to ZSA Legal Recruitment.

Partner Recruitment

Vancouver

Are you a senior associate or income partner with a portable practice who is finding the route to equity partnership too long at your current firm? Perhaps your firm's Toronto office is making the decisions or a bottleneck of partners is preventing timely consideration of your application. Maybe your practice is too entrepreneurial in nature or not quite large enough for your current firm.

Whatever the reason - we want to talk to you. Several of our forward thinking clients have approached us to find new talent who may fit with their demographics and client base. In particular, we have opportunities in the area of securities, corporate commercial, banking, and public private partnership.

Our clients range from a top tier business boutique, to a full service national firm with a strong West Coast influence. Come and see us for a confidential discussion to determine where might be a good fit for you. Start getting your professional needs met and your career path moving upwards.
